Spring is the vernaltime oemulphus.

The air passes through the mouth and noses
down the windpipe into two chambers, oxygen
and nitrogen, which are situated in the chest.

Liquids are generally watery and white.
They also run easily, and are soft and wet.
They are the vessels fungues, much used by the Mohammedans.

—Explain the use of nitrogen in the at-

Lord Saul is the Speaker of the House

The expression "the king over the water" does not mean a real king, but the king of the light-rime, and so refers to Blouid crossing Niagara Falls. The expression "the king over the water" is a handle and sport outside. It contains fluffing stuff used by the Irish and Scotch to make their wakers weaker.

Essays on "Strikes and their Policy" :— "The strike is a struggle when they go mad, high strikes, and they are crying for help and to have to go to an asylum till they get right again; but, sometimes they never get right again. They are very bad policy."

"They are good policy sometimes and bad policy at other times. For instance, if you are arguing a case and a sudden strike hits, sudden strike him, it would be bad policy but if it was a general fight, strike out with a pole."

THE POWER THAT PULLS DOWN.

I want to present a single idea in the foregoing letter, and I will not do so for a try at it. From the thou you are to stand on your feet, up to the time you can stand no longer, there is always a power pulling you back and downward. You need, and I persuade, to win partial victories come every day, and finally it lays you by the heels. Now, what is the name of the power? Don't be too quick with your answer. It is—thou—and it is thou that is the power. I hope this reading of these letters may help you.

In the spring of 1891, says a woman, "My health, previously good, began to fail. I began to use energetic and harsh means and enjoyed being up and doing, but I had no rest, I felt low, weak, and tired. I had no relish for food of any kind, and what I ate gave me pain in the chest and a feeling of tightness and op-

"After the time the pains went to my shoulders and all over me. The distress after eating was so great that I hesitated before swallowing any solid food, and I was obliged to eat only milk. I took many medicines, but none of them gave me any ease. As time went on I became weaker and weaker, often leaving my household and lying down in the street, and I could not rest. And so this disability lasted for some time. My spells of work got shorter and my spells of rest longer. I was sometimes feeling a trifle better and then I would get worse, this was practically my condition month after month. I saw a doctor, but his medicines did me little or no good. He said I was suffering from weakness, and would have to rest for some time. I was in this condition in the fall and winter of 1891-2 slowly passed and I was about the same, only more tired and feeble. I had almost given up hope of getting really well again."

to read a businessman speak about Mr. Henry Seagard, a Carnegie Symp. and what remarkable cures had been witnessed. He said that he had done in the district
"It may be that the best thing I have ever done in my
"I can't say that that very day. After this course main I could rest better, without any distress on pain to come after it. With the additional food
I was able to get up and walk about the house
while keeping on with Mother Seagard's Symp.
I found myself able to do more work and, needless less rest between lines. I took only one dinner and a little supper. I was able to stand and walk some more without thinking about and was even in as good health and spirits as ever. You are free to print my letter if you wish. I am, Sir, very respectfully, of G. W. Collingham, Grocer, 11 Coleridge Street, Lincoln, April 28th, 1895.

"For over four years, says my wife, I suffered from constant weakness. My natural strength was almost entirely gone. I was unable to do anything but sit in bed. I was unable to bring it back. My food—and I ate but little, having no appetite—did not go to the spot, as to say. I was twice the better for sleeping for eating it. Indeed I was the worse, for I caught a great pain and distress in the stomach, chest, sides, and back. I was working in the mill and never quite gave up my employment, but I did my work in the face of pain and weakness. Finally, I was cured by Dr. James' Saline Syrup. I heard of it by means of a little book. The Syrup stopped the pain after eating, and about a week later I was able to stand and work with ease. (Signed) Mrs. Elizabeth B. Smith, 100 North Liberty, October 10th, 1888.

Now what was the power that pulled these women down? Weakness, poverty, and then a weakness. But what is weakness? Is it a disease? No old age always brings it, and it is the absence of the real of disease. Strength, the opposite of weakness is not only the most suggested food. Nothing else under the sun will produce it. Loss the ability to digest your food and soon your life trouble assaults you, your nervousness, your nerves, your nerves, your nerves, your mind is clearness and energy. The word "weakness" comes from a Sanskrit word meaning to fail, to fail, to fail. By its weakness it is the cause of the system to get to the point of failure.

And, mark you! there is a mystery in this simple explanation, so deep we must reserve this discussion of it for another occasion.

Essays on "Strikes and their Policy"

(1) Some people when they go mad have high spirits at first, and then they want to die and to have to go to an asylum till they get right again; but sometimes they never get right again. They are very bad policy.

(2) They are good policy sometimes and sometimes not.

(3) Another, for instance, if you are a doctor, and your patients are all dead, or a sudden strike him, it would be bad policy; but if it was a general fight, strike out with a will and it would be good policy.

THE POWER THAT PULLS DOWN.

I want to present a single idea in the foveas and furrows of your understanding. Here goes for a try at it. From the time you were born to stand on your feet, up to the time you can stand no longer, there is always a power putting you together and downwards. You resist, and it perishes.

Every day, and daily it lays you by the heels. Now, what is the name of the power? Don't be too quick with your answer. It is rather one of those things which we cannot see. But I will help the reading of these letters may give you some hints.

In the spring of 1891, says a woman, "my health, previously good, began to fail. I ate little and drank little, and I had no enjoyment being up and down but mental violence came over me, low, weak, and tired. I did not relish food of any kind, and what I ate gave me pain at the chest and a feeling of tightness and op-death. "After a time the pains went to my shoulders and all over me. The distress after eating was so great that I hesitated before swallowing anything, was knowing what the result would be. I took mainly medicines, but none of them gave me any ease. As time went on I became weaker and weaker, often leaving my household work for a little so as to lie down on the porch and rest. And as this disability increased, soon my spells of work got shorter and my spells of rest longer.

"Sometimes feeling a trifle better and then worse, this was practically my condition month after month. I saw a doctor, but his medicines did me little or no good. He said I was suffering from weakness, and would have me eat a little more food. I did so in the fall and winter of 1891-2 slowly passed and I was about the same, only more tired and feeble. I had almost given up hope of getting really well again.

"In April (1892) was in one of those days and heard a customer speak about Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and what remarkable cures of different ailments it had done in the district. "It may be the right thing for me," I said, and bought a bottle of it that very day. "After taking a few bottles I could not get better, without any distress or pain to come after it. With the additional food I was getting, I felt better, and was able to go to work, while keeping on with Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, until I was able to do more work and, needing less rest between times. I took only the 'Seigel' cure, no other medicine or tonic, and it took some time before I was able to stand and walk some more without thinking about it, and was even in as good health and appetite as ever. You are free to print my letter if you wish." (Signed) Mrs. Emma Cottenger, wife of G. W. Cottenger, April 29th, and furnished by Doctor, Lincoln, Ohio, 28th, 1895.

"For over four years, says my wife, I suffered from constant weakness. My natural strength was gone, and I could not do any work without having it back. My food—and I ate but little, being no appetite—did not go to the spot, as we say. I was none the better or stronger for eating it. Indeed I was the worse, for it came on me great pain and distress in the stomach, sides, and back. I was working in the mill as never quite gave up my employment; but I did my work in the face of pain and weakness, and I could not stand. I did not know of the 'Seigel' cure until I heard of it by means of a little book. The Syrup stopped the pain after eating, and about a week later I was able to stand and walk. My wife was mother and a bigger woman." My mother was 70 years of age, and could not walk with me. (Signed) Mrs. Mary Ann Cottenger, 28th, 1895. (Signed) Sister, October 10th, 1895.

IMPERIUM IN THE BLOOD.—"We have seen hundreds of letters from people who have received great benefit from the use of Clarke's Blood Purifier. It cannot be too highly estimated, for it cleanses and purifies the blood from all impurities." This, a good testimonial from the "family Doctor," which goes on further to say:
"It is the finest Blood Purifier that science has ever discovered. It cures all skin diseases, and the most confident recommendation is to our subscribers and the public generally." For Scrofula, Scoury, Eczema, Bad Legs, Skin and Blood Diseases, Eruptions, etc. Sore of all kinds, the effects are marvellous. The medicine of which this medicine has been affected by its blood Purifier is sold everywhere, at 2s. 6d. per bottle,
and Beware of worthless imitations and substitutes.
